

Placement Service Announces Demand For Coed Workers

Demand Exceeds Supply; Students Urged Register

By PEGGY BENJAMIN

You have undoubtedly read many notices on the bulletin board and in The Daily concerning the McGill Placement Service. Perhaps you thought that it caters to men more than women.

It did, until this year, because the need for work was greater among the men on the campus than among the women. Now, the Placement Service is in a position to help a greater number of women and Miss M. Rossiter, assistant to Director C. M. McDougall, urges all girls who are in need of employment now or in the future to register with the Service.

Organized in July, 1947, the Placement Service is designed to assist students in finding permanent positions after graduation, summer employment, and part-time work during the session. But that is not all. If a graduate—or for that matter any student who has attended McGill—who has been out of university for some years, should apply to the Service, he or she will find the Placement Service most co-operative in helping the business of finding a suitable position. Recently a graduate of 1924 registered there. Sometimes it is easier to place such applicants because of the value attached to their experience.

The Money Incentive

That brings up the question of what types of work are most valuable, in the long run. It is sometimes a delicate question, because work which brings the most valuable money is not always the most valuable. Waiting on tables, for example, is usually quite lucrative; but few students go to college with the intention of training as waiters or waitresses, so spending their spare time at work other than that which they plan to do upon graduation may jeopardize their position with future employers so far as the experience factor is concerned. Of course, for many students it is absolutely necessary to think of money before experience because the present must be met before the future; the Placement Service fully understands the position of such students, and is anxious to help them in any way.

There has been some misinterpretation.

Ritz Carlton Band to Play At Dance Fri.

Romeo Duhamel and his ensemble, currently performing at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, will provide the musical background at the after-football dance to be held in the Union tomorrow evening under the sponsorship of the French Society. Irene Hilda, famous Paris singer, will also be on hand for the occasion. Tickets are priced at 75 cents each or $1 a couple, since the dance is "stag or drag." Dancing will begin at 9 p.m. and tickets will be available at the door.

Madame Irene Hilda, reputed artist who has been held over at the Quartier Latin here for six consecutive weeks, will make tomorrow's performance one of her last appearances on this continent. Her work on "Ignace," an operetta in which she will co-star with the petite, lively singer has had a fantastic success at the Quartier Latin, judging by accounts of her performance printed in local newspapers, French as well as English.

FOOTBALL TICKETS

Due to the enormous demand for tickets for the football game this Saturday, the McGill ticket office will be unable to issue students' season tickets on Saturday morning. All those wishing to purchase their season ticket must, therefore, present their student coupons plus $1.50 at the ticket window in the lobby of the gymnasium before 5 p.m. Friday.

U.N.B. Swears In A. Truman As New Pres.

(By Canadian University Press.)

The University of New Brunswick yesterday saw its first presidential inauguration in 42 years, when President-elect Albert William Truman was officially sworn in. The impressive ceremony took place in the Lady Beaverbrook Gymnasium, where the president was introduced by Premier J. B. McNair.

Wide Interest

The event drew widespread interest and was attended by men prominent in the field of education throughout Canada. Among those present were Msgr. Ferdinand Vandry, rector of Laval University and vice-president of the National Conference of Canadian Universities; Msgr. Vandry extended the greetings of McGill University, in the absence of F. Cyril James.

Others in attendance were: Dr. A. R. Jewett, president of Bishop's University at Lennoxville; Dr. H. A. Innis, University of Toronto; and Dr. Hugh Sanderson of the National Research Council, and official delegate of the University of Manitoba.

Dawson Club Night Tonight At St. Johns

Tonight at 7.30 in T-1 Dawson's annual Club Night will be held to introduce the various Dawson extra-curricular activities. A member of the executive of each club will give a short talk on the functions of his organization. Following this meeting, each club will be assigned a room in Dawson Hall where a short meeting will be held to further acquaint those that are interested in their workings.

S.E.C. Lead

All clubs in Dawson are under the direction of the S.E.C. and membership in each is open to any student getting his education at St. John's. Some of the groups have small membership fees while others generally involve no expense.

Affiliates

Among the affiliates are those which are affiliated with their counterparts at McGill, e.g. the Dawson M.O.C. and the Dawson Hillel Counsellors. Standing on their own feet are such clubs as the Players Club, the Amateur Radio Club, the Debating Society, the Hobby Club, the Camera Club and others. The different clubs present a wide enough field to satisfy the most diversified of tastes. The meeting will start at 7.30 p.m., immediately following the meeting of the Students' Society which is scheduled for 6.30.

Students Told Friday Deadline Of Ticket Sale

Students interested in taking part in the Huberdeau week-end organized by the French Society are reminded that the deadline for the sale of tickets is 6 p.m. tomorrow, Friday.

Tickets can be purchased in Room 54, Arts Building, between 5 and 6 p.m. today and tomorrow, priced at $10. This covers all expenses between Friday, October 22 and Sunday, Oct. 24.

Those wishing to return to Montreal earlier are also advised that special transportation arrangements are being made which will allow them to return Sunday afternoon.

Cheerleaderettes!!

The band is McGill's, but the cheerleaderettes only on loan. West Hill High supplied these attractions for last year's football Rally. This year the students will gather on the lower campus Friday night for their torchlight parade. Jim Peers, in charge of the pep rally, announced that students taking part in the parade will be expected to supply their own torches.

Torches are easily manufactured. Wire a roll of cloth on one end of an old broomstick, or equivalent and kerosene will be supplied by the rally staff.

M.W.S.A.A. Preview At R.V.C. Gym Marks Debut of Coeds' Athletic Season

By LORNA BROWN

At four thirty yesterday afternoon a few last stragglers wandered into the R.V.C. gym and the M.W.S.A.A.'s last athletic preview got underway. Coeds of all faculties and years were in attendance, and the hard working managers, clad in their red blazers, turned out an excellent show for them.

Speakers

Louise Macarlane, "Weasel" to most, President of the M.W.S.A.A., did the honours by introducing the speakers for the evening. The first of these, Miss Munro, head of the Physical Education Department, once more invited everyone to come and join the fun. She urged every coed to engage in one of the many activities in between lectures regardless of how tight the timetable might be. Badminton, Rhythmic Exercises, Archery and Tennis have already begun and a good turnout is hoped for.

Miss Wagner of the Modern Dance Club informed her listeners that the club's activities start next Tuesday in the R.V.C. lounge at four p.m. with their opening tea.

Miss Bean

The next speaker was the Honorary Advisor of the M.W.S.A.A., Miss Gladys Bean, who mentioned a few rules of eligibility for entering intercollegiate sports, noting that one co-ed cannot play on more than one intercollegiate team each year.

For all the skiing enthusiasts Ruth Van Horn, manager of the house at Ste. Adele, had the good news that the Ski House is open to all the girls at McGill and for only a slight fee. A group of tattered and bandaged skiers sang a charming ditty about the joys of that winter sport, and from what they said the Ski House will have a full quota every week-end. In fact, several freshettes wanted to sign up right then and there for a week-end this winter.

Intersection Sports

Last year's system of Intersection Sports has been rearranged and is now patterned somewhat after the men's athletics setup. Dorothy Nichol, manager of Intramural Sports, explained the new arrangement. For each club there is a manager and in addition an assistant manager is elected to help her. Instead of having different grades of teams in each club, as has formerly been done, making competition impractical, there will be several teams all evenly matched. Dot warned all and sundry that in order to play on an intercollegiate team or inter-city team one must first play intramural sports.

Keep Posted

After Robb, Secretary of M.W.S.A.A., was introduced to those present, Eve Marler, Publicity Manager, reminded them that the best way to keep posted on each and every activity was to read the sports columns and the notice boards.

Jo Fournier, manager of the Women's Ice Hockey Team, found a sure method for encouraging the girls to turn out. She informed them that the team coach was a male, Bill Orban by name, a very patient man. (A very necessary quality all will agree.)

RIFLE CLUB

For all those who are interested in shooting, the Rifle Club meets from four until seven on Wednesday evenings. Several teams shoot it out every evening. Guns are supplied, and as Mary Rowlands says, "If you don't know how to shoot, come up and learn!"

The speakers having concluded, there was an intermission at which cookies were served. Afterwards everybody made the rounds of the very attractive tables set up by the different groups. Several girls signed up for the sports in which they were most interested.

GOODY GUM DROPS

A table with a miniature basketball court complete with pipe-cleaner players and all the details was presided over by Pat Wallace. The players' feet looked almost good enough to eat... in fact, they were made of gum drops.

The badminton display bristled with originality. A racket and bird were suspended from the ceiling, and from the size of the lineup at her table Judy Lamb certainly employed an excellent publicity stunt.

Ice Hockey

Dot Nichol was the busy person in charge of the Ice Hockey table and Peter Mace, Ski Manager, was taking the names of all those interested in Zone Racing this year.

The formal program recommended when Pat Wallace gave a talk on basketball, speaking for the manager, Molly Camp, who was making last minute preparations for the basketball skit. This last item topped the program. It introduced basketball as played down through the ages. Dressed in appropriate costumes, Barbara Dawson, Joan Croll, Molly Camp, Wendy Dawson, Roberta Tyler, Mary MacMillan, Elaine Ritchie, Emma Alec, Dorothy Nichol, and Georgina Buckmore showed us how basketball looked when played by a Greek, a Roman, an Egyptian, in knickers, in bloomers, by a Flapper, by a McGill coed and finally by vision in a very brief outfit who was supposed to be the player of the future.

Movies

This excellent skit was followed by some interesting ski movies which concluded the evenings' entertainment with a bang. It was hoped by all those who helped to make the affair the success it was that this preview would prove to be the basis for a wonderful year of woman's sports at McGill.

New Fruit Is Found

A new fruit, known as the cocona—and compared to such diverse types as the apricot, the pineapple and the gooseberry—has been acquired from the upper reaches of the Amazon, according to Foreign Agriculture, publication of the United States Department of Agriculture. In form the fruit varies from oval to round and in size from one to four inches in diameter. It is said to make delicious preserves and pies, but is not suitable for eating out of hand.

Gill, Crepeau to Introduce SEC-Sponsored Club Nite In Union Tonite at 8 p.m.

Societies to Present Exhibits Representative of Activities

By BERNARD COOPER

Hear ye, hear ye! Attention all new (and/or slightly used) students to the Alma Mater. The S.E.C. is sponsoring a "Club Night" in the McGill Union—the palatial mansion on Sherbrooke street which is the seat of student activities—tonight at 8.30 p.m. The event will officially close the Freshman Reception Program.

For the information of all new students a club is an object which is welded in the right hand of right handed people, for the purpose of imposing fractures, lacerations, and such inconveniences and malformations on the crania of opponents. A club is likewise, one of the dark suits in cards (a blue serge suit, perhaps).

After browsing through dictionaries, encyclopedias, etc., we finally came to the conclusion that the affair about which we are writing is neither a slug-fest free-for-all, nor a barbotte game. The third possible interpretation of the word "club" is a group of amiable individuals who get together to discuss various subjects they have in common. This interpretation seems to be the one meant by the S.E.C.

Exhibits in Union

The purpose of tonight's "do" (if our above conclusion is correct) is to introduce the many varied campus extra-curricular activities to the students. Each club and society will have some exhibit emblematic of its purpose and program set up in some nook or corner of the hall towards the Union. (Freshmen are urged to recognize the Union, so that we may be able to boast Union Recognition.)

Examples of the exhibits would be as follows: The bowling club may put on a combined exhibit with the boxing club and present a punch bowl. The thermodynamics club and the clothes club will combine to present a hot-water jacket. The Cosmopolitan Club may feature a brick of ice cream; while the Radio Workshop may combine with the spy club to show an inner tube. All this is mere speculation, however.

Opportunities will be offered at the various booths to enroll in the group's membership.

Starts 8 p.m.

The starting time is set for 8.00 p.m., at which time Bob Gill, President of the Students' Society, and Jack Crepeau, President of the McGill Union, will greet the multitude of students present, and introduce the various organizations on display. From this point, the rights of free men and women take over, as the students are at liberty to wander about and examine the wares of the various organizations.

A large proportion of the benefits of a college education is attained through participation in extra-curricular activities. No student should make the mistake of ignoring them, and this is one of the rare opportunities the Freshies have of viewing all of these groups together, under one roof, at one time.

Attempt Made To Discredit Immunization

An "obvious attempt" to discredit the effort to protect children against communicable disease was made during the recent National Immunization Week observance. It is charged in an editorial in the current September-October issue of HEALTH, official magazine of the Health League of Canada.

The Health League annually sponsors National Immunization Week as a means of drawing attention to the year-round campaign of official health departments against such preventable diseases as diphtheria, whooping cough and small pox.

Coeds Can Carry On Without the Telephone

France this month, where she will Ann Arbor, Mich. — Thirty-three co-eds at the University of Michigan have proved what few believed possible — that women can go without telephone calls for nine days and still survive.

The ordeal was endured by members of the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority because of repair work being done on their house.

Letters and telegrams and even a cable from the house to a nearby tree helped the girls through the nine days. The cable was rigged up by one male student but broke under the weight of the first package.

Pep Rally Set For 8.00 p.m. Tomorrow Eve

Friday night, the lower McGill campus will be a blaze of light and a bedlam of sound as all McGill turns out for the pep rally to send the Redmen out for the "Last Round Up" of the Western Mustangs the next afternoon.

Starting off at Dominion Square in front of the Sun Life Building at 8 o'clock, the thousands of McGill men and women will march up Metcalfe street carrying the torches they have been making all week. Led by the recently revamped McGill band, the parade will arrive at the lower campus at about 8.30, where the football team will be chained in their cages waiting to be whipped into a frenzy by the assembled throng.

The band will play a number of college songs, cheerleaders will stir up the old college spirit with the latest in cheers and yells, and to climax the rally and drive the slavering football stars almost out of their minds, the Western "Bogey Man" will be ceremoniously burned at the stake.

Screaming for the Western scalp, the Redmen will be led back to their cells for the night. There they will be fed raw meat (without desert) and held until game time Saturday afternoon when they will be released to put an end, once and for all to the "Invincible Fallacy" of the high flying Mustangs.

Band Members Attention

The band will lead the parade Friday evening in the "Pep Rally." All band members are asked to meet at the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium, and be dressed and ready to leave by 7.45 p.m. Transportation will be provided for the band members from the gym to Dominion Square.

Dawson members of the band will meet a special bus at the main gate at 6.45 p.m. This bus will take them to the gym, and then return them to Dawson after the game. The band will parade at the Western game on Saturday afternoon. All band members are asked to meet at the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium and be dressed and ready by 1.30 p.m.

Dawson members of the band will meet the special bus at the main gate at 12 noon. This bus will take them to the gym, and return them to Dawson after the game.

It Sez Here...

By Bernie Davis

With Metras the Mustangs arrived for the fight, their banners resplendent with Purple and White. Their band led by a bevy of drum majorettes. With a host of supporters and cheerleaders.

A fabulous legend preceded this crew. Of gridiron precision stupendous to view. And on everyone's lips the question: Who shall these galloping Mustangs at last corral?

Let us turn back the clock to another football contest in another collegiate circuit. The scene is Fenway Park in Boston; the time is the last Saturday in November, 1942. About to commence is the tilt between the highly regarded and heavily favoured Boston College Eagles and the Holy Cross Crusaders.

One glimpse at the past performances of both squads will show why the situation looked so hopeless in the eyes of the Crusader supporters. Boston College led nationally in total offense and in defensive efficiency; they had won their first eight straight against some tough opposition. Holy Cross, on the other hand, had wallowed through a dismal season, when the best they could do was to gain one tie in five attempts. And on the basis of all these stark realities, the Eagles were installed as prohibitive 4-to-1 favourites. No one even accorded the underdog Crusaders one iota of a chance.

Here is the referee's whistle, and there goes the kickoff. And what's this! Holy Cross, operating from a single wing, is marching down the field. No, it can't be possible... the Crusaders just scored! But now conditions return to normal as the Eagles punch ahead to tie the score.

But before Boston College moved again, it was late in the fourth quarter. And at last when the Eagles scored their second touchdown, Holy Cross already had tallied again... and again... and again. Eight times in fact! And so the team which was not considered to be in the same class as the high-flying Eagles had produced one of the most startling upsets in college grid history. Holy Cross triumphed by the lop-sided score of 55-12.

Dawson Floor Hockey Begins Monday Night

On wandering around Dawson these days one can see such enticing signs as "Join The Big Three B's—Bruised, Battered And Broken—Play FLOOR HOCKEY" or "He's Lovely. He's Engaged. He plays FLOOR HOCKEY". These posters herald the opening of the season of Dawson's National sport.

An exhibition game between the Moyse Boys and the Stallions, champions and runners-up of the league last year, was held last night in order to acquaint the Freshmen with the style of game played at Dawson. The Stallions emerged not only victorious but without injury in winning the game by the score of three to two. Langstaff, Creggan, and Ashton scored for the victors while Ross and McNeil tallied for the losers. The game was a good exhibition of the sport and was witnessed by a large group including many Freshmen.

ACCEPTED UNTIL FRIDAY

Any group of boys who are interested in entering a team in the league have until Friday afternoon, 5 o'clock to do so. These entries should be handed in either to the Athletics office, to Norm Lang or "Butch" Hutchison, who are in charge of floor hockey this year. They report that up to now only eight or nine teams have applied for membership in the league and that they could handle twice as many or more.

Reading the posters spread all over Dawson one is liable to get the impression that Floor Hockey is a rough game. Let it be understood that all rumours concerning broken arms, legs and other parts of one's anatomy are perfectly true but should not be deterrents to one's participation in the game. A great season is expected (for the hospital), but seriously, interest should be high and rivalry keen in the 48-49 session of floor hockey.

Mural Tennis In Third Day Of Competing

The largest tennis tournament in the history of McGill, 169 entrants in all, rounds out its third day today. Seeded players had an easy time advancing yesterday and are now awaiting the results of other contests.

The Intercollegiate tournament commences Monday with Toronto, Queens, and the University of Montreal competing. McGill is playing host this year. Unfortunately, the Redmen will be without the services of Charlie LaRoche who has withdrawn from the tournament.

Succeds Phillips: Training Will Start Next Week at Gym

By ARTHUR BRONSTEIN

The appointment of Milt Orr as 4th year Commerce student, to the position of Boxing Coach, has been made public by the Athletics Department. Milt fills a vacancy caused by the retirement of Irving Phillips who has seen fit to devote his entire time to business matters.

This marks the first time in McGill's history that a student has been named to such a post. It is a position to which Milt brings ample experience. Orr won the Major Forbes trophy for boxing in 45-46, during which year there was no intercollegiate meet. The following year Milt was boxing manager and won the 155 lb. intercollegiate championship, which he capably defended last year. Since coming to McGill he has engaged in 22 bouts and has lost only one, to Chick Tanel of the U.S. Coast Guard.

Milt, a member of the Students' Athletic Council and Chairman of McGill Athletics Nights 48-49, has announced that the first training session will be held Tuesday, October 19 at 5.00 and will be held twice weekly thereafter. Everyone, beginners and last years team, are urged to turn out for this important session.

Fencing

The Fencing Club is opening today at seven in the Currie Gym. All old and new fencers are welcome and beginners will be under the expert guidance of George Tulley. The Fencing hours are as follows: Thursday 7.00-9.00; and Wednesday 5.00 to 6.30.

STARTLING TENNIS UPSET

A big and surprising upset was caused by June Marler in the first round when she beat Mary Tucker who was seeded second in the tourney. It was a well fought battle though we hear that neither was playing her best tennis and Mary was very definitely off her game. The score was 6-3, 2-6, 6-3. June has been playing all summer and is really an up and coming player. To talk of another June, June Deveau is really playing an excellent game and has been out on the courts daily. The results of the first round coming up:

- June Devaux (seeded No. 1) defeated Rosie Schütz 6-3, 6-2.
Willie Birks defeated Lucy Lafontaine.
Kay King defeated Mary MacMillan 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.
Louise MacFarlane defeated Peggy Benjamin 6-0, 6-0.
Audrey Sephton defeated Elizabeth Mennie, 6-2, 6-0.
Louis O'Neill defeated Lois Preston, 7-5, 7-5.
Jane McCarthy defeated Edna Birch.
Diana Sutherland defeated Betty O'Toole 6-3, 6-4.
Here is a last reminder to all those trying out for the team... there is a tryout this morning from ten until twelve. This is the last day for the second round, so be sure to play your match before five o'clock this afternoon and don't forget to post your results on the R.V.C. Notice board. The third round starts tomorrow, there is only one day for this round, so all the matches must be played by Friday night. Why don't you phone your opponent tonight?

BASKETS AHOY

Now we turn our thoughts to hitting the ball into the net instead of over... this is basketball... the first practice gets underway this morning and is being held in the Currie Gym from ten until twelve (Continued on Page 4.)

Bill Naves Will Coach Dawson Cage Hopefuls

The first Dawson basketball practice was held on Tuesday night under the close supervision of Bill Naves. Most basketball enthusiasts will remember Bill Naves as one of last years outstanding players, and who this year will coach Dawson's hoop-ball squad. Dawson has also suffered from a slice in its athletic budget and consequently will only floor one team.

Three veterans from last year's squad, Jim Shea, "Nick Nickerson," and Wally Armstrong are with the Dawsonites again. Besides these boys, there were approximately thirty candidates, who from first appearances will be able to shape up into a top-notch ball team. It was a great disappointment to the Red and Blue when they learned that last year's outstanding basketball mentor, Steve Armstrong, would not be able to direct the St. John's team. However, in Bill Naves, Em Orlick has found a very capable replacement. Naves is in second year Engineering, and he will hold one hour practices every night, so that the boys may get into condition and at the same time not hinder their studies to any great extent.

Track Teams to Hold Supper Meet Tonight

A supper meeting for the track squad will be held on Thursday, October 14th at the Union. The following are urgently requested to attend:

- Ballon, Blair, Coffey, Cooper, Davis, Donnellon, Dorland, Drummond, Dujan, Finatist, Firth, Flewelling, Fraser, Gilmour, Grahame, Hickey, Hurst, Kemp, Kyle, Lattier, Lynch, Menard, Moffatt.
Munroe, McGeachy, McPherson, Penrose, Robinson, Spence, Swanzy, Taylor, Wagner, Whitman.
Will everyone who is interested in trying for a place on the Senior or Intermediate teams whether he has been out previously or not, see Mr. F. M. Van Wagner. More men are required, as at present there are no second team candidates for several events such as Pole Vault, Hurdle etc.

New Institute Set Up This Year, McGill

McGill this year set up a new centre to assist Montreal businessmen solve their human, economic and legal problems.

McGill has set up a new, McGill School of Commerce Industrial Relations Centre, designed to "provide services to the commercial and industrial community and stimulate and enrich the work of those faculty members whose interests lie in the industrial relations field."

Dr. P. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill, announced the creation of the Industrial Relations Centre following a meeting of the Board of Governors and H. D. Woods, director of the School of Commerce, associate professor of Industrial Relations and director of the new centre, said that its purpose was, "to bring the industrial community and its human relations problems into direct contact with the university and the facilities it has, and is developing, for the study and understanding of these problems."

Mr. Woods emphasized also that "at the earliest possible moment" a Labor Division, designed to provide similar services for organized labor groups, will be formed.

Faculties and departments of the university which are concerned with industrial relations problems include psychology, psychiatry, sociology, law, engineering, economics, political science and commerce. Mr. Woods pointed out that representatives of each of these branches of the university will serve on the faculty advisory council of the centre.

Committee Members
Mr. Woods acts as chairman of the executive committee, as well as director of the centre, and the other members of the committee are Dr. Ewan Cameron, chairman of the department of psychiatry and director of the Allan Memorial Institute, and Dr. Edward C. Webster of the department of psychology.

Firms wishing to take advantage of the centre's services become members and pay an annual fee. In return a research and library staff will be available to them; they will obtain use of the library of the School of Commerce; lectures and seminars in such industrial problems as selection and appraisal of personnel, adjustment of workers, group behaviour, training, labour law, collective bargaining, economic influences and many other matters will be available to their representatives; they will be kept up to date by means of books, periodicals and academic and scientific papers on all the latest developments in the field in which they are interested.

The present short-term program of the new centre includes eight lectures "by outstanding authorities in the field of industrial relations" to be delivered under the direction of Dr. Cameron; a discussion course on foreman training by Economics Professor Dr. J. B. Rollitt; a similar course in group relations in industry by Sociology Professor Oswald Hall; a seminar on professional appraisal and selection by Dr. Webster; a seminar on industrial psychiatry by Dr. Cameron and other projects.

The long-term program includes financial assistance to research students and circulation of information gained among associates, and Mr. Woods believed yesterday that "as the centre grows in strength... and as the industrial community and the university learn how to combine their efforts most effectively in the centre the whole program will be extended and enriched."

standing in the past regarding the monetary organization of the Service. The idea that a "cut" of your pay is absorbed by the Service is a false one; everything you make goes into your own pocket, and you can thank the Graduates Society and the University for making that possible. It is a completely non-profit organization, not even a registration fee is charged.

FEW WOMEN

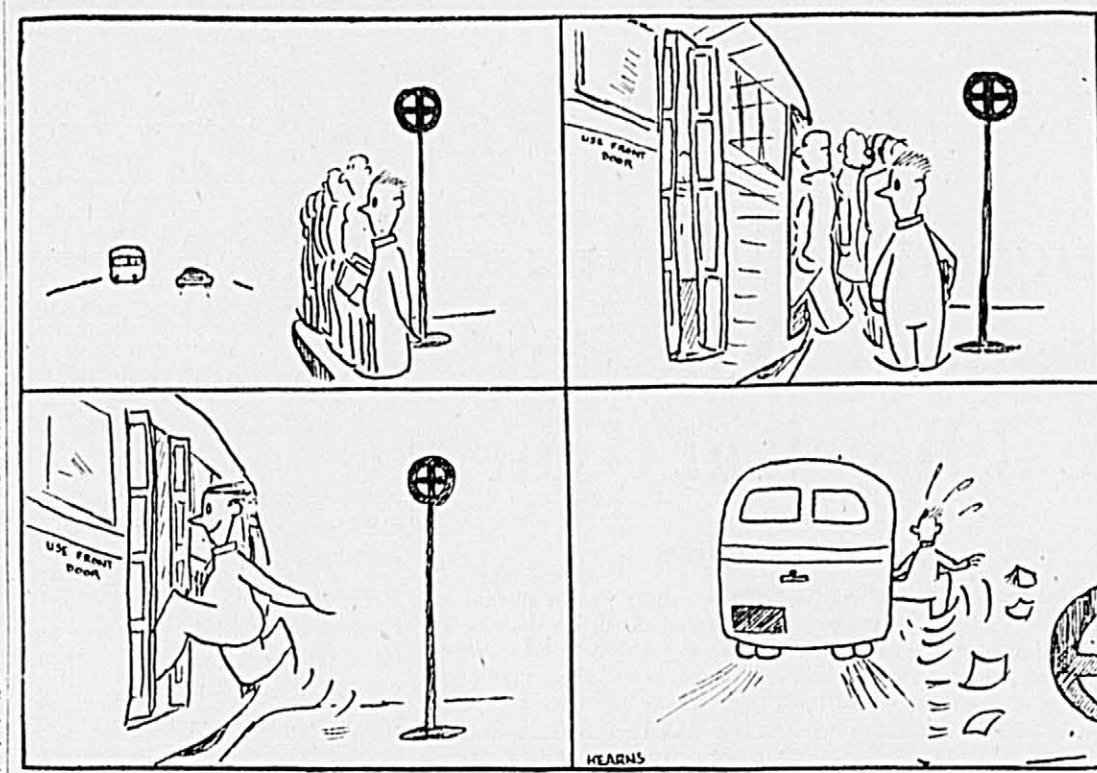

To date, the number of women registered has not been what it might be; registration for part-time employment will be continued only until November 15th, so if you need those extra sous you had better trot over to 3466 University Street, home of the Service, and leave your calling card. After that date, registration for permanent positions begins, so if your future is not definite, that is a good date to start molding it.

In December, watch for the announcements of visits to the university of company representatives; they will be here to interview prospective employees for permanent, and sometimes summer, employment. Incidentally any girl wanting to combine room and board with employment should see Miss Rosier. She still has one or two places on her records, where a student willing to look after Junior now and then and/or do a bit of work on the premises, receives the fundamental necessities of life free.

So, People with Money Problems, take them to 3466 University and see what can be done to make your pockets and purses jingle.

this coming Saturday. Everyone who wishes to play basketball this year is asked to turn out for this practice when the Intramural League will get underway. This year it will be necessary for everyone who is interested in trying out for the Inter-City and Intercollegiate teams to play in the Intramural League. This competition supplies the much needed practice before the teams can be picked. Please watch the R.V.C. Notice board and the Daily for further information about other practice times.

Three Noted European Scholars Join Staff of McGill University

At least three of about 25 European scholars who will work and study in Canada with the aid of fellowships established recently by Lady Davis, C.B.E., of Montreal, will be on the staff of McGill University this coming academic year, it was learned yesterday.

It is probable that several more of the fellowship holders, many of whom are anti-Nazi and anti-Communist scientists and scholars who have suffered persecution during and since the recent war, will also join the staff of McGill at later dates.

THE THREE

The three men presently holding McGill appointments are Guido Calogero, of Italy, who will be a professor in the department of philosophy for a term of three years; Bogdan Zaborski, of Poland, who will be attached to the department of geography, and Dr. Jerzy Olszewski, of Poland, who has joined the staff of the Montreal Neurological Institute.

Professor Calogero was professor of philosophy at the University of Pisa from 1934 until 1942, when he was dismissed from the university and jailed on a charge of anti-Fascist activities. Reinstated after the collapse of fascism, he went to England in 1947 on a lecture tour at the invitation of the British Council. This summer he delivered a course of lectures at the Warburg Institute, London.

Professor R. D. MacLennan, chairman of the department of philosophy, describes Professor Calogero as a "scholar and teacher of highest distinction whose presence at McGill will benefit not only the department of philosophy but the humanities in general, especially the study of Italian civilization."

Professor Calogero, who speaks excellent English, is 43 years of age. He is married and has two children.

Prof. Zaborski

Bogdan Zaborski, who is 47, was formerly deputy professor of physical geography and cartography at Cracow University in Warsaw. He lectured on human geography at Warsaw university and was a geographical expert in the planning office for the Region of the Polish Mountains. He holds the Award of the Polish Foundation for National Culture (1929-30), the Polish Golden Cross of Merit (1938) and the Polish Airforces Medal (1947).

He served with the Polish Army on the outbreak of war in 1939 and was taken prisoner in 1940. He was later released and made his way to London where he served with the Polish Government-in-Exile from 1942 to 1945 after which he joined the staff of the Polish University College in London.

He has published widely on general human geography and lectured this summer at the McGill Geography Summer School.

Dr. Jerzy Olszewski, 35, was assistant in the neurological and psyin the middle of National Immunization Week is an obvious attempt to discredit this national effort to protect children against communicable disease," the editorial comments.

HEALTH charges that included in the ad was a statement removed from its context in an attempt to draw conclusions which were not intended. "This is a favorite trick of fanatics," the magazine states.

The specific statement in the advertisements referred to by HEALTH follows: "In the last four years thousands of these little creatures were vivisectioned for the making of vaccines, which were used on healthy children. Dr. J. P. Leake, Medical Director of the United States Public Health Service, warned the medical world against them in Journal of American Medical Association in December, 1935, listing 12 specific case histories of children who had been killed or crippled by them and speaking of their high fatality in general."

The magazine editorial then states that the article referred to by Dr. Leake, dealt with experiments with a new poliomyelitic vaccine, which has never been in general use and is not recommended by the medical profession as a whole.

"It had nothing whatever to do with smallpox vaccination, diphtheria toxoid or any other recommended immunization procedures," HEALTH states. "Then too, obviously, in all medical procedures such as operations, anaesthetics, injections of various types, there may be accidents. If one followed the implied suggestion of these specious followers of the gods of fanaticism, there would be no more operations even to save life."

ical Institute, a post which he held from 1937 to 1939.

He was named to the staff at Queen's University in the department of psychology, where he held the rank of assistant professor. He came to McGill in September, 1947, as professor of psychology.

Noted Mathematician

Professor Tate, the new chairman of the department of mathematics, is widely known as a mathematician. He received some of his advanced training at Dublin University and came to McGill as an assistant professor in 1921. He was promoted to the rank of associate professor in 1932.

Mr. Tupper, who will continue next session as lecturer in orchestral and chamber music, has long been identified with the work of orchestras in this city. He is known throughout Canada as an examiner in local centres for the which work he is now engaged. He is returning to Montreal at the end of the week.

Robillard and Lenard Scoring Race Leaders

After the firing was over last Saturday afternoon, Rocky Robillard of McGill and Al Lenard of Queens emerged at the head of the individual scoring list with a total of seven points each. Robillard's total was composed of a touchdown, a convert, and a single. Lenard garnered a touchdown and two converts. All in all thirteen players from the four teams in the loop broke into the scoring column.

In second place following Rocky and Lenard was Jack Parry of Western. Parry has a total of one touchdown and a convert for six

CLUB NIGHT

On Thursday night the Student's Executive Council will sponsor a Club night at 8 p.m. in the McGill Union. This event will enable the Freshies to take a look at the clubs and see what each has to offer before making their final choice.

To give these prospective members an inviting look at the goings-on of their organization, each club will have a booth set up and eye-catching demonstrations will be given with the intention of luring new members into their fold.

Bob Gill, President of the SEC and Jack Cregoe, the President of the Union will be on hand to start the proceedings and introduce each club in turn.

Accommodations For Married Students Highly Overloaded

McGill University, whose Board of Governors pioneered in the provision of quarters for married students, cannot keep pace with the demand for such accommodation.

This was disclosed in a recent round-up of the various centres of accommodation which the university maintains at Dawson College, Macdonald College, and the Peterson Residences at Lachine. All are filled with long waiting lists at the former two.

Macdonald College can provide accommodation for 60 married students, forty of whom are students at Macdonald and the balance commute to McGill.

Dawson College nearly doubled its accommodation for married students. A total of 98 couples were accommodated last year, and provision has been made for an additional 90.

Many With Children

Peterson Residences handles 180 couples, many of whom have children. There are two or three families with three children each. The total population is 500. All three centres make provision for children. The birthrate is much higher than the average for Canada.

The Board of Governors has already greatly increased accommodation for single students in recent years. Two new units will go into operation this session. The J. K. L. Ross Residence for men will accommodate 130 students, and the Donald House, next to Royal Victoria College, is planned for an additional 40 coeds.

Men students are also accommodated at Douglas Hall, where provision is made for 147, and at Wilson Hall, which can hold 70. Women students have their headquarters in Royal Victoria College which can provide for 138. Strathcona Hall which can hold 71 and at McLennan House which provides for 28.

Appeal Made to Citizens

The university has obtained the volunteer services of members of the Women Associates of McGill and the McGill Alumnae Society to operate the McGill Rooms' Registry for a period of five weeks. The city is being combed for suitable accommodation for married or single students, and all citizens with spare rooms are asked to get in touch with the registry which has a special phone, HA. 3902.
